(Reality Check: As you can see, there is Chican@/Latin@ activity and activism throughout the United States. Every day there are more Chican@s/Latin@s in the USA! Latinos are rapidly growing in the metro areas and in non-traditional areas like in North Carolina, Georgia, etc. Minorities now make up one out of three U.S. residents. http://www.census.gov/Press-Release/www/releases/archives/population/010048.html In several states, minorities are the majority. It is time to act, feel and think like a majority in California, Hawaii, New Mexico, and now Texas!! Whites are a minority in these states. “Texas has now joined Hawaii, New Mexico and California as a majority-minority state, along with the District of Columbia, the U.S. Census Bureau reported today [AUGUST 11, 2005].” California became a Minority-Majority state in 2000, Texas in 2005. “Five states — Maryland, Mississippi, Georgia, New York and Arizona — are next in line with minority populations of about 40 percent. (The minority population includes all people except non-Hispanic single-race Whites.) According to July 1, 2004, population estimates, Texas had a minority population of 11.3 million, comprising 50.2 percent of its total population of 22.5 million. In comparison, 77 percent of Hawaii’s population was minority. In New Mexico and California, the proportions were 57 percent and 56 percent, respectively, while the District of Columbia was 70 percent minority. . . . California had the largest Hispanic population in July 2004 (12.4 million) and the largest numerical increase (351,000) since July 2003; New Mexico was the state where Hispanics comprised the highest proportion of the total population (43 percent).” http://www.census.gov/Press-Release/www/releases/archives/population/005514.html “California and Texas are the most populated states of the US and they are minority majority states. “The United States as a whole is moving in the direction of its two most populous states, California and Texas, where members of racial and ethnic minorities account for more than half the population, according to the Census Bureau.” http://www.iht.com/articles/2005/08/12/news/census.php

Los Angeles County, adjacent to Orange County, is number one in minority residents in the country. “Los Angeles County, Calif., had the largest minority population in the country in 2006. At 7 million, or 71 percent of its total. . . . The county’s minority population is higher than the total population of 38 states, with the largest population of Hispanics, Asians, and American Indians and Alaska Natives in the country.
It also has the second largest population of blacks and Native Hawaiians and Other Pacific Islanders.”

Besides Los Angeles, many other counties throughout the country are experiencing minority growth. There are over 300 Minority-Majority Counties in the USA (1 in 10 counties are minority-majority). The White population in Orange County, the second largest county in California, decreased from 65.4% in 1990 to 51.3 in 2000. In 2003, Whites became a minority in Orange County.

In 2004, minorities became the majority in the public schools. “This school year, whites make up 49.75 percent of students, followed by blacks (23.88 percent), Hispanics (21.7 percent), multiracial (2.34 percent) and Asians (2.04 percent). Florida joins Hawaii, New Mexico, California, Texas, Mississippi, Louisiana and the District of Columbia as places that report having majority-minority populations in their public schools.” During the 2007-2008 academic school year, California enrolled 6,258,007 students in the public k-12 schools. Hispanic students are the largest ethnic group, 3,046,433 (48.7 %). Second are White students, 30.4%.

There is great disparity in the ethnic/racial make-up of faculty and administrators and the student populations that they serve. For example, in 2006-2007 Santa Ana Unified had 52,835 (92.1%) Latino students. White students were 1,966 (3.4%). At the same time, Hispanic teachers comprised 27.9% and White teachers were 64.2%.

The same disparities are found through-out the rest of the public education pipeline, i.e., Community Colleges, California State Universities and the University of California.
We need to stay connected in order to work with each other. Also, to take on the issues/decisions which impact us. “¡Un daño contra uno, es un daño contra todos!” Use the information on Community Organizing to empower others. Gather facts to advocate for more services, programs, and personnel (faculty, administrators, etc.) that address Latino needs. Use this list as a resource and inspiration to continue doing the good work.!) J.Castillo
